MAKES FASHION SENSE

A family of five (mother, father, two daughters, and a son) are posed in front of a rustic stone wall. The mother is on the left wearing a blue top and maroon trousers. The father is in the center wearing a red and black checkered shirt. The two daughters are on the right, one wearing a red top and yellow trousers, and the other wearing a blue and white striped top and green trousers. The son is in the center foreground wearing a blue and white striped shirt and brown chinos. A small child is sitting on a wooden crate in the foreground. Text labels indicate prices: 'top £10' for the mother's top, 'shirt £10' for the father's shirt, 'chinos £10' for the son's chinos, and 'jeans £16' for the daughter's trousers. A small box in the bottom left corner contains the text 'easy way to shop' and 'Simply enter the 6 digit code to find the item you love online at matalan.co.uk' with a cursor icon pointing to the website.

Umbrella fair 'rains' supreme

CROWDS gathered to enjoy the fantastic weather and an eclectic range of entertainment at the Umbrella Fair.

The festival took place at The Racecourse in Northampton and entertainment included live music, dance and theatre, arts and crafts, a children's area, jazz and classical marquee and a healing area.

Alan Hackett, who is co-ordinating the Global Mela stage, said: "It has been fantastic – the crowds were definitely up on last year, and they are staying longer as well."

"The Umbrella Fair is about groups of organisations coming together in the community. It is run by the community and everyone has a great time for free. It is by the people, for the people. The people of Northampton had a great time."

Festival goer Benn Gray, 24, of Drayton Walk, Kingsthorpe, Northampton, said: "I love it. I think it is just a good place to be. It is very open to anyone of any orientation."

Praise for hospital staff

STAFF at Northampton General Hospital have received high praise for managing to withstand £19.1million of budget cuts in the past year, with demand for similar savings next year.

The hospital's chief executive, Dr Gerry McSorley, and chairman Paul Farenden praised the "outstanding" performance of 4,000 employees in the 2011-12 annual report.

The hospital's Transformation programme delivered £19.1m of savings against a target of £18.6m, and over the next year the authority has to find a further £19m of savings.

The report shows A&E attendances and emergency admissions increased significantly in 2011-12, with staff managing to treat nearly 93 per cent of these patients within the four-hour standard, two per cent short of the target.

But the report stated: "Every individual makes his or her contribution to providing our patients with safe, high-quality care day or night throughout the year. Each can rightly take a great deal of pride in what they do."

The hospital achieved all but one of its key national performance targets, including those for maximum waiting times, cancer waiting and treatment, and reducing infections.

The report mentioned an unannounced visit to the hospital by Care Quality Commission inspectors, in which patients provided positive feedback about their care and treatment.

The subsequent quality and safety report published by the CQC recognised many areas of good practice, with doctors and nursing staff described as kind and caring.

The trust published the report prior to its AGM at Cripps Post Graduate Centre main hall in the hospital on Wednesday, September 19, from 5.30pm.

The meeting is open to all but those wishing to attend should email members@ngh.nhs.uk as space will be limited.

The report can be found at www.northamptongeneral.nhs.uk

Mum's disgust over syringe on doorstep

A MUM-OF-TWO was disgusted when she returned home after an afternoon of shopping to find a syringe on her front doorstep.

Jodie Bulpit, aged 21, of Tenby Road in Spencer, Northampton, found the needle at around 4.50pm on August 7 and reported it to Northamptonshire Police.

Northampton Borough Council disposed of the syringe, but Miss Bulpit said: "This is not the first time I have found syringes in my street."

"Since March, I have found lots of them in the street and near Earl Spencer Primary School and the nursery attached to it.

"I have a four-year-old son who likes to play outside, but I don't let him any more because it is too dangerous."

Miss Bulpit, who has a son Tyler, aged four, and a one-year-old daughter, Maisie, added: "I am so worried my son or another child might stand on one of them or pick one up.

"I am worried sick about it."

"It's frightening that something like this is going on on my doorstep."

"I'm disgusted. It could be life-threatening."

'Boy' apologises for bad behaviour

BADLY Drawn Boy has apologised to fans in Northampton after his disastrous Market Square gig.

The singer, real name Damon Gough, headlined the Northampton Music Festival earlier this month, but his behaviour resulted in walkouts from fans and prompted some to confront him.

The singer made derogatory comments about Northampton, swore at fans, threw a harmonica brace at a young mum and used a string of expletives throughout the family event.

In a statement, he said: "Personal and work pressures have come to a head in the last month."

"Sometimes I find it very difficult to control my emotions on stage.

"I have decided to take a complete break from everything for the next three months, something I've not had for 14 years."

"I'm really sorry if I offended anybody in Northampton."

THREE miles of new cycling track were officially opened in Northampton at a celebration of bicycles.

The Connect2 route, which runs from Southbridge to Upton, is designed to encourage more people to walk and cycle around the town rather than use cars.

The Sustrans charity, which developed the scheme with Big Lottery funding, said the numbers of new people using the route would be recorded using counters attached to sensors that can detect the difference between a pedestrian and a bike.

Matt Easter, regional director of Sustrans, said: "We don't think this will just get people using it for leisure, we're hoping people who normally drive between these places will use it."

"We've done many of these schemes across the country and quite a few of them are in quite dreary urban areas, but Northampton's has a beautiful route near the riverside, which people perhaps don't make enough use of."

Free rickshaw rides, a pedal-powered Scalextric and a bicycle wall of death were some of the other attractions at the event at Becket's Park on Saturday.

Stars hit floor

CELEBRITY contestants in this year's Strictly Northampton enjoyed their first training session at Kelmarsh Hall to launch the event.

The competitors joined professional dancers, who they will eventually be paired with, for a dance class in the ballroom.

Andrzej Mialkowski, founder of the Step by Step Dance School, in Henry Street, Northampton, led the session, and said: "Each year we do Strictly the contestants raise the bar higher."

"They are looking good and a few of them are looking really good. They are learning the steps very quickly."

Sixteen well-known Northampton faces will take to the floor on the night of the competition to help raise funds for the Chronicle & Echo and Macmillan Cancer Support's campaign for a new £1.55 million blood cancer unit at Northampton General Hospital.

Yin Jeune, aged 32, owner of Fong Spa Beauty in Octagon Way in Weston Favell, Northampton, is one of the competitors.

She said: "The launch event is a really good opportunity to see the professional dancers in action and learn a few steps ourselves.

"I'm nervous and it all feels very real now. I'm looking forward to getting fit though and being able to dance."

Owner of The Works fancy dress shop in Abington, Patricia Coleman, will compete against Yin and the other celebrities in the contest. The 59-year-old, who is a member of the Masque Theatre company, which performs in Northamptonshire, said: "I am an actress, but I have no sense of direction and I don't remember steps, but I just don't want to come last."

River to be cleared of weeds

WEED will be removed from the River Nene to help reduce the risk of flooding to homes and businesses in Northampton.

The Environment Agency has started work, costing £50,000, to remove the weed from a 100km stretch of river between Peterborough and Northampton, which should be complete by mid-October.

M a l c o l m

Owers, Kettering operations delivery field team leader, said care would be taken not to harm wildlife, and added: "Our work will ensure weed growth is kept in check on the River Nene which is a popular river with boaters."

"It will also reduce flood risk by helping the river to accommodate any increase in water level caused by heavy rainfall."

Cloudy2Clear – A Simple Way To Save Money

Cloudy2Clear Windows, the Northampton based window repair company, are revolutionising how homeowners view double glazing in our area. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as customers take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore is more than happy to explain the process. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. I find people are amazed at just how simple the process is and the speed with which we can replace the glass. This isn't like when you have new frames put in with people levering out the old ones with loads of mess. We can pop the old glass out and deliver, effectively, a brand new window within a matter of minutes. At the end of the day most frames, even timber ones, will last forever. It's very rare we come across a window that needs a full replacement and that means the customer gets, effectively, a new window at a fraction of the cost."

Trevor is rightly proud too of comments he receives back from satisfied customers, a selection of which he has put on his website www.cloudy2clear.co.uk. For example, he recently completed an installation at Mr Miners house in Northampton. Here's what he had to say. "I have to say that I thought the service Cloudy2Clear offer compared to having completely new windows absolutely incredible value. The service was reliable, simple and without complication."

The windows look absolutely brilliant and installation was incredibly quick. Thank you!"

High praise indeed! So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be more than happy to help!

Flying visit to twin town

MEMBERS of the Northampton Model Aero Club flew abroad to celebrate Northampton's 20th anniversary with its German twin town.

Northampton has been joined with Marburg for 20 years, and members of the aeroplane club paid a visit to the twin town in July.

They met Councillor Dr Kerstin Weinbach from the town and with members of the Hessian Association of Aviation in Marburg.

In 1982, the Hessian Association of Aviation from Germany was the first club to visit Northampton, before the document of the twinning partnership was officially signed in 1992.

Members of the Northampton group visited a brewery, enjoyed a barbecue at the Hessian Association of Aviation club's airport and took part in the annual Marburg "City Festival".

Cash for charity

A NORTHAMPTONSHIRE children's charity has received funding to provide support for those aged under 10.

Service Six, which has been running for 33 years providing free support, counselling and activities to children and young people across the county, has been awarded funding from the BBC Children in Need charity awards.

The grant will be used to provide a service called

Smiles for three years, which will provide play therapy to children aged between four and nine to support their emotional and developmental health.

Service Six chief executive Jane Deamer "We feel it's important to work with children from a younger age group to ensure an early intervention approach, in order to prevent any issues escalating or harm worsening for the children."

THE conversion of a former town centre
nightclub into a 24-hour gym is almost complete, with an official opening set for the end of the month.

Pure Gym has spent £1 million refurbishing the Lava & Ignite building in St Peter's Way, including the installation of more than 200 pieces of gym equipment.

Lava & Ignite closed on October 19 last year, the night on which two students, Nabila Nanfuka, aged 22, and 19-year-old Laurene-Danielle Jackson suffered fatal injuries as a result of a crush.

Within a few days, its parent company, Luminar Leisure, announced it had gone into administration.

The Chronicle & Echo was given an exclusive tour of the building ahead of the official opening on Wednesday, August 29.

Gym manager Darren Ele said the gym would be staffed by 12 qualified fitness instructors, who would provide 40 classes a week.

Mr Ele said: "At Pure Gym, we have a passion for affordable fitness."

"The gym will provide space for people of all ages and all fitness levels, 24 hours a day."

Mr Ele said the gym offered a "no frills" approach with changing rooms and shower facilities, as well as plenty of space for weight and resistance training.

Mr Ele said the gym would be staffed all through the night and would also be monitored by CCTV cameras.

The building has been extensively redesigned, although some features have been retained, including the location of the DJ booth.

Memberships are available now and viewing of the new gym will be available on Saturday, from 8am to 7pm, Sunday from 10am to 6pm and Monday from 7am to 7pm.

More information is available at the Pure Gym sales office in Gold Street.

Deadline for race refunds

THE deadline for Formula One fans to apply for a refund from Silverstone following the chaos at July's British Grand Prix is tomorrow.

Circuit bosses asked fans to stay away on the Saturday of the weekend, in a bid to protect the public car parks for race day.

As a result, 15,000 fewer people watched qualifying compared with 2011.

Silverstone managing director Richard Phillips pledged to refund all affected ticket holders, and fans have been applying for their money back since late last month.

The deadline for people to apply for a refund is tomorrow.

Mr Phillips said all claims received so far had been processed, but the circuit wasn't able to specify the number made.

He said: "We want to thank people for their patience regarding the claims process."

"We have now processed all the claim forms received to date and will be starting to refund money this week. Some cheques have already been sent."

"Refunds will be made by cheque and these will be posted out via Royal Mail."

"All valid claims received by the cut-off date will be refunded as soon as possible."

"It is our aim to have this completed by September 8."

Despite the conditions, 297,000 people attended over the weekend, including a record race day crowd of 127,000.

GPs up for awards as care providers

GPS who will be taking on responsibility for buying most NHS health services in Northamptonshire from next year have been nominated for four national awards.

The National Association of Primary Care (NAPC) has shortlisted Nene CCG for its Vision Awards for most advanced group, best patient engagement scheme and best end-of-life care.

It is also listed for its care home advice pharmacists, who save the county NHS tens thousands of pounds a year by spotting and stopping unnecessary medications used by elderly people.

Dr Darin Seiger, chairman of Nene CCG, said: "The fact we have been shortlisted for all these categories shows that we are leading the way in terms of commissioning high quality

Dr Darin Seiger, of NHS Nene Commissioning

"They are already making a huge difference to patients lives, and moving care closer to home."

The awards take place in Birmingham on October 30.

Grant secures future of historic archive

A £650,000 heritage grant has ensured a nationally important archive remains in Northamptonshire for the future.

The National Heritage Memorial Fund (NHMF) stepped in to help buy the Westmorland of Apethorpe archive, one of the most important family collections in Northamptonshire, containing thousands of records dating from the Medieval period up to the 20th century.

The archive is privately-owned and has been looked after by Northamptonshire County Council's record office since the 1950s.

It was recently offered to the county council to buy for about £760,000, with a deadline of August to secure the sum.

Local fund-raisers managed to raise £45,400 by holding events in the parishes most affected by the archive, including one at Apethorpe Hall featuring historian David Starkey.

The campaign also received support from, among others, the J Paul Getty Jr Charitable Trust and the Finnis Scott Foundation.

Councillor Heather Smith, cabinet member for community services, said: "This is a great achievement and could not have been done without the fantastic work of the local community, who have been campaigning tirelessly to raise awareness of the collection and encourage donations."

The archive is based around a Northamptonshire family and its main residence in Apethorpe Hall, near Oundle, and includes letters signed by Elizabeth I and Oliver Cromwell.

The process to buy the collection can now start and it is expected the council will be able to take legal ownership of the collection in September.

Pay for pulling power

WITH cars these days smaller is often smarter, but here's one where bigger is going to be better for lots of owners.

The little Polo punches above its weight on the quality front, oozing the highly-honed VW virtues of impeccable fit and finish.

It might look plain outside and relentlessly black inside when you open a door, but there's a solid feel to everything that means the car should look as good five years down the road as it does today.

How quickly it gets down that road depends on what's under the bonnet, and that's where I'd suggest you perhaps don't take the obvious route to Polo satisfaction.

There are lots of engines available in VW's next-to-smallest model (only the newer Up is tiddlier), taking in petrol and diesel versions, majoring on ultra economy at one end and GTI sporting sizzle at the other.

Most buyers will opt for petrol (the diesels are dearer, as nearly always), but picking the right one could make the difference between grudging respect and long-term affection.

The test car came with the least powerful engine in the Polo pantheon and I'd urge a decent test drive before you put down a deposit, especially if you do much out of town motoring.

In nearly every aspect, the little Polo delivers a bigger car experience, from the already mentioned grown-up build quality, to a ride that humbles much dearer machinery and seats designed for long distance comfort.

A featherlight clutch and one of the best gearchanges in the business proved a bonus in the 500 miles I put beneath this Polo's alloy wheels; you'll need to use both of them rather a lot.

A glance at the Polo brochure shows how, for a little extra cash, you might combine still good economy with a car that's nicer to drive away from the speed limits of suburbia.

For an extra £1,310 there's a bigger, 1.4-litre engine on offer in the Match model.

It provides loads more pulling power, shaving many seconds off the acceleration times, yet uses hardly any more petrol in the official tests.

There's still more performance and even better economy with diesel versions, but their price makes them off limits for most private buyers.

Whichever Match you choose, there are alloy wheels, powerful air conditioning, trip computer, electric windows all round and a good sound system (and iPod connectivity) in all of them.

HEADS YOU WIN – David Artell and Clive Platt scrap it out with Rochdale at Spotland on Saturday

PICTURE: KIRSTY EDMONDS

Artell happy with Cobblers' progress

DAVID ARTELL says he has seen enough of the Cobblers in his first week at the club to come to the conclusion that they can challenge at the right end of the table this season.

Artell scored on his debut in the Capital One Cup win over Cardiff City last week and followed that up with a clean sheet on his league bow in a 0-0 stalemate at Rochdale at the weekend.

And following Tuesday night's home clash with Rotherham, Cobblers are at Sixfields again on Saturday when they host Southend.

Those games will provide a good barometer of the current team's credentials and the early opinion from centre-back Artell is that the signs are good.

"I didn't have a great 45 myself (on Saturday) I've got to be honest with you but it's going well," he said.

"On Tuesday night I was a very happy man, not just because of the win but because we've got a squad of lads who will run through brick walls for each other.

"That is vital. There are plenty of clubs where that doesn't happen but I saw it here on Tuesday night and if you've got that, you've got a chance.

"We're not getting carried away but if you keep that over 46 games, with a little bit of quality thrown in, you'll be there or thereabouts."

Artell concedes there remain lots of areas in which the team can improve.

He was pleased with the way the players executed the basics at Rochdale but feels they need to be better in possession.

"There's certainly plenty to work on but we went to one of the teams that will be there or thereabouts and we didn't get beaten, so we can be very pleased with that," he said.

"The performance could have been a lot better, we're not going to kid ourselves on but we've got a clean sheet and with a little bit of work we can hopefully be where we want to be.

"We need to improve on the ball.

"The other night we were very good on set-pieces and that side of things didn't really happen for us.

"But when those things aren't going for you, you have to make sure the basics are there and that's one thing we definitely did get right against Rochdale, the basics.

"The determination, the hard work, the willingness to put your body on the line, they're things that are easy to say but they're not always there and they were on Saturday.

"When things aren't going for you, you have to dig in and that's what we did. It was a hard-earned point for us."

Players' chance to stake a claim

PAUL GRAYSON says two games in two days this week will give every Saints player a chance to prove they deserve to start the season opener at Gloucester.

Northampton are expected to name a youthful side for the clash with Moseley at Franklin's Gardens on Thursday ahead of the game against Edinburgh at Murrayfield a day later.

The Friday fixture is likely to see Saints name a team which should closely resemble the one which will take to the Kingsholm pitch in the Premiership curtain-raiser on September 1.

But assistant coach Grayson is not writing off the chances of the men who play against Moseley, and has urged every player to stake a claim ahead of the first competitive game.

"With two games in two days for the players it means everybody gets some meaningful game time and gets an opportunity to put their hand up," he said.

"We're less than two weeks away from Gloucester with plenty of work to do and a team to be picked for that game, which will be based on everybody's work in pre-season and the two games this week.

"We want to hit the ground running and the win against Leinster last Saturday was a step towards that."

The players, management and fans will be united in their delight when the Premiership finally kicks off a week on Saturday.

Grayson says it's been a really tough pre-season at Saints, with hard work the name of the game, but he believes all the conditioning work will pay off in the coming campaign.

"There's been a colossal amount of hard work," he said. "Some of the lads have done 10 or 11 weeks of training and not had a massive break in the middle of it to get into the type of condition you need to contend, but we're all rugby players when all's said and done and that's the bit you want to do.

"But you've got to go through the horrors of fitness and conditioning to prepare yourself to play the game, running the ball and knocking people over. That's what excites the fans and that's what excites the players and hopefully we can build some momentum into next week and beyond."
